DETAILED ACTION

Claims 1-12 are presently pending.

Election/Restrictions

This application contains claims directed to more than one species of the generic invention. These species are deemed to lack unity of invention because they are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

The species are as follows:

Applicant is required to choose a single tissue or specific combination of tissues chosen from stomach, white fat, brown fat, muscle, pancreas, pituitary, liver, hypothalamus, brainstem, midbrain, forebrain, or a specific combination thereof, as given in claims 7-8;

Applicant is required to choose a single level of expression to determine, chosen from RNA, DNA, protein, or a combination thereof, as given in claim 9;

Applicant is required to choose a single bioinformatics analysis chosen from statistical, class prediction, clustering, computer programs, or a specific combination thereof, as given in claim 12

Applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single species to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. The reply must also identify the claims readable on the elected species, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered non-responsive unless accompanied by an election.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which are written in dependent form or otherwise include all the limitations of an allowed generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).

The following claim(s) are generic: 1, 6-7, 9, and 11.

The species listed above do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, the species lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons: the various tissues comprise distinct structure, which provide distinct effects in the body, the various expression levels require distinct method steps to effect their detection due to their structure, and the various programs require distinct considerations as to that structure required to effect their method step. Further, Hagan, et al. (1999) J. Neurosci., 19(6): 2362-67 teaches overfeeding of animals and analyzing gene expression in rats, which identified POMC mRNA increased expression versus control rats, in hypothalamus, and provides statistical analysis (ABSTRACT; FIGURE 1) and therefore anticipates the a member of each species within the method. (It is noted that Applicant supplied this reference and hence it is not provided by way of a citation, but will be addressed upon the first action on the merits.) Moreover, the search and examination, given the breadth of combinations allotted, would pose a serious burden on the Examiner to search and examine any two groups together.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of a species or invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected invention.

The election of an invention or species may be made with or without traverse. To reserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse.

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the inventions or species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the inventions or species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C.103(a) of the other invention.
